“Raúl Resino: Creator of unique flavors of the sea”
(José Carlos Capel in El País)

Raúl Resino presents a stylistically clear and traditional cuisine that is underpinned by avant-garde techniques, and the product is always the focus of attention: “We cook as we think but do not think about how we cook.” Resino designs a new menu six times a year. At any moment, the best of the best will be served, according to the season and the inspiration of the boss. Exclusively regional products are used for this changing 19-course menu, in particular sea food specialties of the Azahar mediterranean coast between Barcelona and Valencia as well as the fresh ingredients offered by the fertile Valencian soil. With this cooking, Resino won the Spanish Chef of the Year title in 2016.
